How does the program work?

As an employee of TW, you are able to leverage the purchasing power of the University to buy a new business-caliber computer at a discounted price (often 200-500 dollars less than the standard academic discount).

To purchase the machine you will need your university ID number (found on your TW ID card) and a valid personal credit card*. You will pay for the machine and determine the location for delivery. The machine will belong to you as a personal purchase.

*You may be able to use other payment methods as specified by Dell, Inc.

TW does not offer support services for personally-owned equipment and does in no way guarantee the functionality of the equipment. All support requests and warranty issues should be handled through the manufacturer (Dell)
